An Editorial

As we pointed out last week in this column, a grave flood threat exists at the lower end of Carmel Valley and at the mouth of the Carmel River.

We were misinformed as to the location of the proposed hotel and resort. We can now state definitely that the development is not planned for the Odello property, nor anywhere west of the highway.

This does not change the central point, however. The fact that it will be upstream further emphasizes the point that the valley is an attraction which is drawing the attention of developers. As each square foot of roof is added, that much additional rainfall is diverted to the river flow.

U. S. Army Engineers have volunteered to survey the whole valley to study flood effects. The offer was rejected. Attempts to form a flood control district for the valley have been resisted, not without reason, by those who have built on higher ground and feel it is not up to them to subsidize those who bought and built upon lower and therefore cheaper sites.

When the sand bar at the beach was finally broken through in the 1958 flood, it was estimated that the water would have to rise another six feet before it would have broken through by itself. It should be added, however, that only another two inches of water would have flooded the clarifiers at the sewage disposal plant, pouring raw sewage into the whole flood plain and turning it all into a giant cesspool.

Another consideration is that bird lovers resist any efforts to change the habitat of the ducks and other fauna in the "lagoon."

A western wind with an oncoming tide make it virtually impossible to keep the bar at the beach open. The state department of parks is now the agency which opens the bar, but their agreement ends in mid-1964. The Odello family did this job voluntarily for 34 years, then thought it was time somebody else helped out in the task.

Even if the bar is opened, old-time residents tell of watching the bar close within two hours, starting with water flowing through a cut ten feet wide and eight feet deep.

A potential tragedy awaits us. Suppose, for example, that it hadn't stopped raining this week . . .

Council Agrees To Offer $550,000 For Sunset School Site

Carmel's City Council last night authorized its committee to make an offer of $550,000 to the Carmel Unified School District for the purchase of the Sunset School site. The final purchase was made contingent upon a determination of the source and availability of funds.

Some lengthy discussion tying the committee report to another recommending enlarged facilities for various municipal departments resulted finally in the two matters being separated.

Those appearing to speak in favor of the projected use of one school site as a cultural center included Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels, speaking for American Federation of Arts and the Symphony Guild, who said she was pleased with the report but that time limitations be included. H. G. "Tony" Royal, president of the Monterey County Symphony Association, asserted that his group would like to encourage the city to pursue the matter rapidly.

Fred Ryder of the Carmel Arts Commission and Howard Bucquet, president of VAMP, expressed similar views. Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (Ret.) of the Carmel Citizens Committee affirmed that the group was heartily in favor of the acquisition. Mrs. Leonard Klene, representing Carmel Music Society, the Carmel Bach Festival and the Junior League, stated those groups are very much in favor of the proposal. Citizen August Nieto asserted he felt the whole community will gain tremendously and as a taxpayer he will be most happy to pay any additional taxes which may be incurred. Gunnar Norberg added that while he felt the price was exorbitant, he was

River School Paraders Celebrate 10th Anniversary

Hallowe'en is past, but the memories of fun, of fantastic costumes and celebration of a great event, linger on at River School, because last week's parade was the tenth anniversary of the school's first Hallowe'en party.

The grand parade in 1953 wasn't really hampered by the land graders and all the builders' paraphernalia that cluttered the brand new school's yard.

As Mrs. Marcia DeVoe remembers, "The four teachers there then were Mrs. Claire Duygou, Mrs. Florence Buckman, Mrs. Fern Blee and me, with Mrs. Marjorie McCausland, principal. There were less than 100 children.

"Today River School has 20 rooms over the original four and close to 500 students, going to kindergarten through 4th grade."

Of the four original teachers, Mrs. DeVoe and Mrs. Duygou are still teaching at River School. Mrs. Blee is at Woods School and Mrs. Buckman now lives in Los Gatos. The school now has a staff of 14 teachers, a reading teacher, speech therapist and librarian.

From the wee kindergartners to the great fourth graders, the students of River School paraded in costumes, scary, funny, beautiful—etraditional and avant garde. The long beloved Tin Man of the Wizard of Oz becomes Campbell's Cream of Elephant Soup; the horrible ghost is a Schmoo; spacemen, creatures from Mars, Indians, cowboys and Little Red Riding Hood, they were all there, in River School's 10th Annual Hallowe'en Parade.

Automatic strange devices come upon us day by day, which by planned design entices folks to spend more time at play. Washing dishes—press the button—they are clean; soon most anything one wishes can be done by some machine.

Modern brides need learn no cooking—pick a package at the store—heat the dinner without looking at a cook book any more. Bread and biscuits come from tin cans, ready made—just heat and serve; strange the stuff they tuck within man's stomach with éclat and verve.

Automation some fine morning will replace the need for men; future kids will then be born in scientific tubes, and then people won't have jobs or purpose in the scheme of plans ahead—you and I will just be surplus—that's what scientists have said.

Comes the day we're pioneering up on Mars or some such place, where no fancy engineering or computers halt our pace; a storm will shut the power off down on Earth some Tuesday night—there'll be no one there to fix it, and it serves the buggers right!

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

Talking about Noshappu beside the Soya Straits on the northern tip of Hokkaido last week reminded me of some great times we had there.

Water for our little base was supplied by our own tiny water works. We had a small dam on the other side of the mountain and we ran a pipe around the end to a filtration and chlorination setup. The problem was that during the winter it got so cold even the ocean froze. As a result, we could use water for only the most essential needs during the very cold months—about eight months out of the year as I recall.

Anyhow, this meant that when the local fishermen brought in the crabs we had to melt snow for the water to boil them in. Now anybody who has ever tried to melt up enough snow to get three or four gallons of water knows that this can take quite a while.

Therefore we had some time to kill while we were waiting. For this very reason we had trained a dog to pull a sled to the government liquor store in Wakkanai, about two miles away. It took a great deal of training, but finally we got the dog, named Radar natch, to go straight to the liquor store. When he got there the man would take the money out of a small pouch on his collar and load the sled with a dozen liters of beer. As I recall we could buy about 80 liters of beer for a dollar.

The dog usually made two or three trips to town before we got the crab cooked. For this reason, if none other, I look back with fondness to these evenings.

Well, came the day we were to be visited by a chaplain colonel who was concerned about our morale way up there in the boon-docks. As a rule we wore Japanese flying suits which could be plugged ged into our vehicles for warmth. This was out. The C.O. insisted we get out our class A uniforms for the impending visit.

Well we were stiff and awkward in the American clothes we were unaccustomed to. At least half the guys forgot to salute and instead bowed deeply, Japanese style.

The colonel walked around the installation all that day looking very concerned. He had probably never seen a group made so uncomfortable by his presence. We were on our very best behavior, even to the point of saying please and thank you at the mess table.

Came that evening and nobody had stepped the least little bit out of line. The colonel went with the C.O. to his bungalow and all the men went out to the woodshed, for this was the first night of the crab season that year.

We had been there for some time and the dog had made several trips to town when suddenly the colonel stepped into the woodshed. The mood changed instantly. Where we had been congratulating ourselves on our deportment during the day we all fell silent. The chaplain frowned again.

Not knowing what to say I took out a cigarette and asked the guy sitting next to me, to fish me a coal out of the stove. Using a pair of metal chopsticks he selected a coal about the right size, then held it up for me. When the smoke was going strong he pulled the coal back again and began to blow vigorously on it.

Who knows why he did it. Maybe he had just had enough of all the phony business we'd been go-

Michael P. Gould, General Mgr. Hawaii Mortgage

Registered at Tally-Ho Inn for the long weekend are Mr. and Mrs. James V. Wheelless of Hawaii. Mr. Wheelless is president and manager of the Hawaiian Savings and Loan Assn. as well as president of the Hawaii Mortgage Co., Ltd., and Hawaiian Factors Ltd. His wife, Elizabeth is president of the Kauai Savings and Loan.

It was Mike (Michael Purnell) Gould who steered us to "his" Carmel. Mr. Wheelless told the Pine Cone, "He is a mighty persuasive type and while he obviously is a whole-hearted booster for life in the Islands, where he is newly-appointed general manager of the Hawaii Mortgage Co., Ltd., Mike still has a very warm spot for Carmel and from what we've seen since our arrival here, Mrs. Wheelless and I don't blame his superlatives."

The Goulds, Mike and Katherine lived in Carmel Valley for more than 10 years and during that period their hospitality was famous.

A dynamic personality Mike, a native of Baltimore, Maryland, ing through all day. Perhaps that combined with a couple liters of good Japanese beer tipped the balance. When the coal was quite bright he quickly reached down and dropped it in the top of my combat boot.

Now those beauties never were designed to come off quickly even under the best of conditions. Considering the coal was searing my skin and I was jumping and stamping while I fumbled with the buckles and laces, it probably took me a full minute and a half to get the thing off.

When the boot hit the floor I noticed a dull silence. Then I realized that during the entire struggle to get the boot off I had been delivering a bilingual dictionary of the most vile profanity I could think of. I realized that there was just about nothing that I had left out in reviling the guy who had dropped the coal in. My eyes sought the face of the colonel.

He was smiling, then tittering and finally laughing out loud. The ice was broken at last.

We had to send the dog to town several more times that night and the chaplain was nuts about the fresh crab. He tried, and approved of, our flying suits the next day, much to the C.O.'s chagrin.

We got a great morale report and were never troubled by chaplains again.

where he owned a radio station, was owner-publisher-editor of the Monterey Peninsula Spectator, a weekly newspaper. He had wide interests and was particularly keen upon development of Carmel Valley and at present is owner of property in the much discussed Carmel Valley Country Club.

Frequent visitors to the Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Gould purchased property in Kauai where they went to live a bit more than two years ago.

On Nov. 13, we hear, Mike will take a flying trip across the States, stopping on his return swing in Carmel just before Christmas.

Arriving at the height of festivities, Stephen Maygar, general chairman of the Community Chest Drive, made a short informal address, paying tribute to Mrs. Hudson (Jane) for her unflagging enthusiasm and energy as residential chairman of this year's campaign and thanking the workers for their hard work and fine results. Mr. Maygar presented Mrs. Hudson with a gold feather brooch, honor insignia of the Community Chest.

The arrival of a uniformed group of Girl Scouts shaking the rain drops from their touselled heads and blissfully gathering round the punchbowl (orange and grapefruit juice) and the trays laden with exotic sandwiches, climaxed the party.

Answer: They had higher-priced gas and electricity ... because PG&E prices are 8% lower today* than thirty years ago. And here's an important reason: the more gas and electricity people use, the more efficiently and economically we've been able to provide it. [So how come your bill is bigger than it used to be? ### Commander Frances Biadasz, USN, Addresses Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club

Commander Frances Biadasz, USN, Ph.D., instructor in international relations at the U. S. Naval Post Graduate School, recounted her experiences as a woman officer and instructor in the U. S. Navy, before members of the Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday evening in the Carmel Chapter American Red Cross building.

Commander Biadasz, delightfully feminine and despite her degrees and titles, entirely free of pedantry, captivated her listeners with a swiftly moving outline of her career.

At the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School, Commander Biadasz is the only woman faculty member in the Department of Government and Humanities and is instructor of International Relations. Her courses, both required and elective, are taken not only by U.S. officers but also by officers of several foreign navies.

John Farr Resigns 10-Year Church Post

After much deliberation and with regret at leaving friends and associations of ten years, John Farr, resigned as director of the Chapel Singers of the Church of the Wayfarer, last week.

As director of music at Carmel High School for the past 16 years and rehearsal assistant to Bach Festival Conductor Sandor Salgo last season, Mr. Farr is known and loved by musicians of the Peninsula, young and old. His contribution to the community is beyond evaluation. It is to be hoped that he will be directing another adult choir, soon.

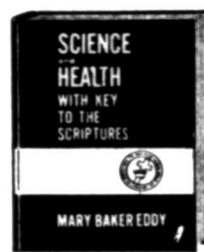

In the meantime his CHS Christmas carollers are already enrolling for rehearsals. The John Farr carollers are as essential to Christmas in Carmel, as our holly-decked churches.

Peter Dyer on Library Board of Trustees

Mr. Peter Dyer is the recent appointee to the Board of Library Trustees of the Harrison Memorial Library. He fills the place left vacant, by the departure for Europe, of Donald Craig, who is on a sabbatical leave from the Carmel High School.

Mr. Dyer is a graduate of the University of California, the class of 1940. He has been active in the work with local Boy Scout troops, especially during the years his three sons were Boy Scouts. He is at present on the Board of Bishop Kip School, and is a vestryman for All Saints Episcopal Church. He is also a member of the Marine Corps Reserve.

Letters . . . to The Editor

The following letter was sent to the editor of the Carmel Pine Cone, requesting that it be reprinted in our columns:

The Carmel Planning Commission City Hall, Carmel.
Subject: Parking
Gentlemen,

The Board of Directors of the CARMEL CITIZENS COMMITTEE submits the following statement regarding the parking problem:

We concur in general with the Commission's attitude as reported in the Herald of October 17th.

Making more curb parking spaces available by adjusting curbs, rearranging spaces, curtailing unnecessary width of some driveways, etc., is desirable and should be continued.

Except for the City's own employees, any public off-street parking should be privately owned and operated. Merchants could make more spaces for customers if they would provide off-street parking for their employees. We feel the City is under no obligation to spend its funds for additional parking for store customers. If the merchants feel more parking is needed for their patrons, the merchants should provide it and pay for it.

Further invasion of the residential zone for parking lots should be resisted as an undesirable change in the appearance of Carmel.

Carmel BPWC Meeting Next Tuesday

The Carmel Business & Professional Women's Club will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, November 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the Red Cross Bldg.

Phyllis Howard, program chairman for the evening, will introduce Commander Frances Biadasz who will speak on Women's Personal Development Through Career Service in the Navy. Commander Biadasz, USN, Ph.D., is an instructor in International Relations at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California.

At the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, Commander Biadasz is the only woman faculty member in the Department of Government and Humanities and is instructor of International Relations. Her courses, both required and elective, are taken not only by U.S. officers but also by officers of several foreign navies.

She was selected as U.S. Lady of the Month for September by U.S. Lady magazine, a magazine for Service Women and Wives of servicemen.

The Carmel Club extends an invitation to all members of the Business & Professional Women on the Monterey Peninsula to attend this meeting and hear and meet Commander Biadasz.

Letters to The Editor...

Large blacktop lots should be discouraged. For Carmel to have large public surface parking lots like the ones at Monterey beach would simply ruin the city.

We face a dilemma. We strive to keep Carmel attractive. Its attractiveness brings hordes. To service them brings pressures destructive to Carmel's attractiveness. What should we do? The best solution is to preserve at all costs Carmel's individuality, and when the crowds get too great, many of them may stay away and our problem will have been alleviated, if not solved.

Respectfully
The Board of Directors

Carmel Pine Cone
Dear Editor:

As a frequent visitor to Carmel I have watched with interest and surprise, the landscaping at the new junior high school.

Surprise—because of the obviously high allotment of money given for this — this was followed by alarm at the complete lack of maintenance of this investment.

My observations upon my visits since July have brought a satisfaction almost beyond expression at the care that is now apparently being given this phase of maintenance of the junior high school. It is a joy to behold.

Please do not think that I am a busybody but for the past 30 years — of seven or eight visits a year — Carmel has become very dear to me.

Thank you for "listening" to me.

REVIEWED BY HARRY WELLESLEY FLETCHER

A Day and a Night In San Francisco

OF GOOD WILL AND EVIL, Ernest K. Gann. Published by Simon and Schuster, New York, 1963. (The Wells Book Store).

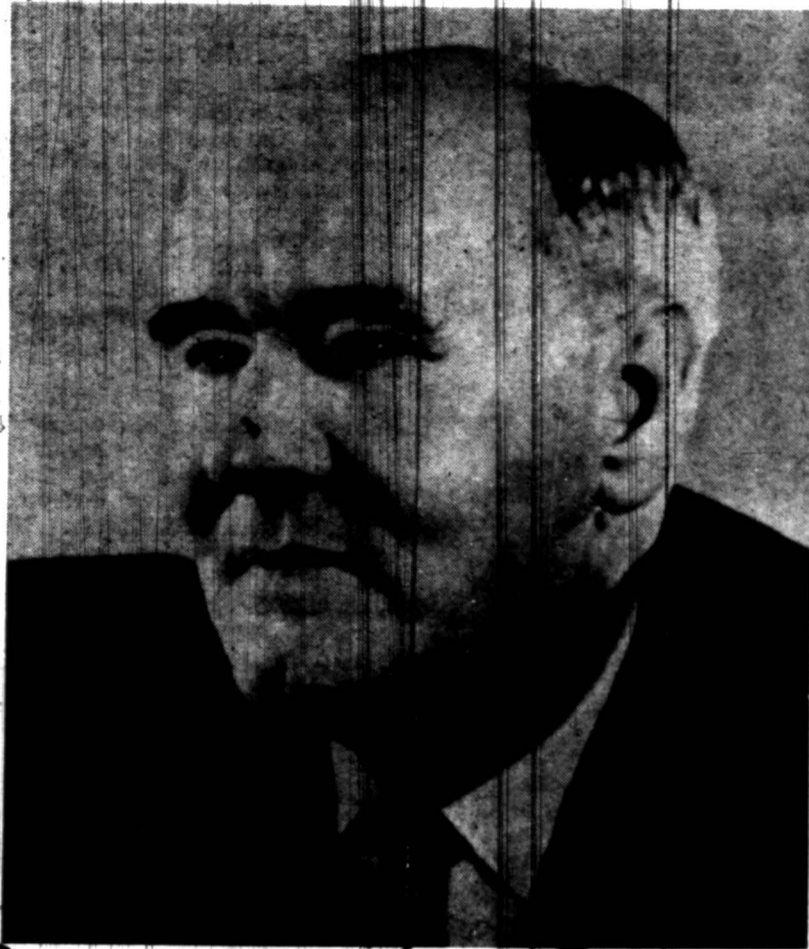

Certainly assured of a place high up on the list of "best sellers," is Ernest K. Gann's latest novel, "Of Good and Evil," a gripping slice of San Francisco life, touching all levels of society and coming uncomfortably close to the private lives of each one of us.

As the author says in his preface, "There is no special town... where alone the affairs described in this book could have occurred. For that reason the locale is nameless... Yet here the city should be identified as San Francisco, because there are few other cities in the world where the material for this book could have been so readily obtained. Thanks to an enlightened and nearly fearless police department, and a police commission of unusual dedication, the author was allowed not only to serve with the police, but to live as one of them."

This writer found it nearly impossible to lay the book down, which is at once a brilliantly interwoven story of the lives of a number of people, and a piercing social document, suggesting in parts the writings of Henry Miller. There is, besides the inner workings of a big city police department, the mental conflicts of a man staging a spectacular suicide from a tower of the Bay Bridge, the malevolent underworld baron plotting to squeeze the marrow from the city's bones, the psychopath girl of fifteen who accuses two boys of rape, the pusher, the pimp, the pervert, the murderer, each in turn acting out the demonic compulsions that strain the social fabric.

Facing them is the law, the hard-pressed, imperfect human beings who are its enforcers, and the man who is supposedly its protector — the judge, struggling to reconcile justice with compassion, and all striving to stay on the right side of the law themselves.

Author Gann pulls no punches, minces no words, and preaches no sermon. This is his tenth published

C. Northcote Parkinson
Discoverer of Parkinson's Law

Noted Scientist - Author To Speak at MPC

Prof. C. Northcote Parkinson, best-selling author and discoverer of the famed "Parkinson's Law," will speak at Monterey Peninsula College this Saturday, Nov. 9.

He will address an Evening Lecture Series audience at 8 p.m. in the Armory. His subject: "The Crisis in American Education."

Free tickets are available at the college now. They may be obtained by writing the MPC Evening Division, 980 Fremont, Monterey, and enclosing stamped, self-book, and it may well be his best, absorbing in interest, factual in concept, and without superfluous wordage.

—H.W.F.

addressed envelope. There is a limit of four tickets per request.

Prof. Parkinson's hilarious—but astute—analyses of the "laws" governing business operations in corporations and in smaller units (such as families) have made him a popular writer and lecturer in England as well as the United States.

In his book "In Laws and Out-laws"—and on the lecture platform—he explores corporate climbing through such methods as marrying the boss's daughter.

In "Parkinson's Law" he explains how work expands to meet the time and personnel available for its completion. In "The Law and the Profits," he points out how expenses rise to meet, and even surpass, income.

Such related items as the cocktail party method of personnel selection and how to manage—and mis-manage—your personal finances are also covered.

Not merely a humorist, Prof. Parkinson is noted as a distinguished historian and educator. He has lectured on the problems of taxation in England and Scandinavia and has taught history for many years in universities and colleges on both sides of the Atlantic. For many years he held the Raffles Chair of History at the University of Malaya in Singapore.

In addition to his more popular books, he is the author of many highly-respected volumes on historical and political subjects, including "The Evolution of Political Thought." He has contributed scholarly articles to such publications as Harper's, The Reporter, The New York Times Magazine, The London Economist, Punch, etc. He has also made many appearances on radio and TV.

• An autographing party will be held at the Thunderbird Shop in Carmel Valley this Saturday two to four o'clock in honor of Lillian Grace Paca, author and illustrator, who will autograph her new book "The Royal Birds." Mrs. Paca's earlier volumes, "Sea Lions, Sea Gulls and Such" and "Introduction to Western Birds" will also be on display.

Mission San Miguel

Mission Document Day

Old Mission San Miguel will observe "Mission Document Day" on Sunday, Nov. 10. During the day, the original Baptismal and Marriage Registers of the Old Mission will be on display for visitors. These historic documents date back to the founding of the Mission in 1797 by Padre Fermin de Lasuen, and bear his signature in many instances, also the signature of Padre Juan Francisco Martin who supervised the building of the Mission and was its first Franciscan Superior.

Visitors will be interested also in observing the two tablets on the south wall of the sanctuary in the Old Mission Church. These tablets memorialize Padre Martin and his companion priest, Padre Marcelino Cipres, who are buried under the sanctuary. They were placed over the graves of these pioneer Franciscan Padres by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, in 1912, documenting their graves for posterity.

The Old Mission is located on US Highway 101, in the town of San Miguel which is seven miles north of Paso Robles.

Practically assured of being a collector's item, this artistically printed book, size 6 x 9, on art paper, and with a cover decorated by the author, will contain 30 selected "Feathers" by Harry Wellesley Fletcher, known as Harry the Fletcher, (from his ancestor, Harry the king's fletcher or maker of arrows), was originally intended to be a very limited edition, but, because of popular demand, was extended to include those readers of The Pine Cone who expressed a desire to own a copy of this first volume. The publication date will likely be about November 15, thus making the book available as gifts to those being remembered at Christmas time. ## THE QUIET SEASON

The shining sky of yesterday was blue
And here and there the clinging leaves of red
And bronze and yellow, those remaining few,
Were loathe to seek the company of dead
And fallen comrades being raked and burned
Or frosted flowers being cast aside,
Like us, pretending they had not yet learned
That fecund summer long ago had died.
Today, the swirling clouds of drifting snow
Have hidden unraked leaves and uncut grass.
Around the shrivelled plants and barren row
Of shrubs a shrouding mound will soon amass.
The undone tasks must wait for distant spring,
For winter's cape has covered everything.

JOYCE W. WEBB
Madison, Wisconsin.

TWIN FAWNS — MELODY AT NOON

Their sensitive ears swayed
In easy rhythm as they browsed.
Twin muzzles pressed side by side.
Masked in green the doe stood alert
For warning snap of twig or leaf.

Two spotted flanks slid out of sight;
And not a still branch stirred.
But one deer turned to watch my fire,
Held by the leaping glow of flame.
As it dropped like a curve of song,
The fawn vanished — a last note.

PHOEBE W. HOFFMAN
Carmel Valley.

GOLDEN TRYST

Down this street where oak leaves whisper
Lovely secrets and your name
I shall walk a golden valley,
With the brown earth turned to flame.

As I walk with wealth around me
All the riches I can hold
In the thousand leaves of scarlet,
Amber, russet, crimson, gold.

My heart calls you from prosaic
Rooms of business, to this rare
Windfall from the fields of Heaven,
Autumn's Eden we may share.

MARY ANN PUTMAN
Seattle, Washington.

THE SOFT VOICE

The blessed quiet of leaves still in the sun,
The noiseless breath of scent from knee-high grass;
Tranquility on driveway's winding run,
Only the import of Time's stealthy pass!

Alone, I seek my shelter's hanging ledge
With lupins straggling down to sandy beach,
Where water, calm as June beneath a hedge,
Erases sully with a cleansing reach.

I like a friend — for nights of glowing coals,
Or bracing walks across the morning sod;
But in a world of rip-tides, snagging shoals,
Retreat in silence finds the sound of God.

COMTESSE CLOVER DE BÉRARD,
Los Angeles.

MOTHER OF THE GEMINI

On laundry day
like a marsupial
stomach pushing the pouched pin bag
she advances,
purifies the lines
by twin marches,
her right arm aloft,
her left hugging the plastic basket.

Twelve white sweat shirts,
identical as sweat,
sagging their sorrow, weep to the grass,
Blue jeans running windward catch up with her heart; she squints
at the leaping legs
and wistful, makes two square white wishes.

1964 Olympiad of the Arts
Contest Rules Announced

To mark the ancient custom of honoring the arts at the time of the classic Olympic Games, trophies for the best unpublished entries in literary contests will be awarded at Villa Montalvo, Saratoga, on the afternoon of June 6, 1964.

The Edwin Markham Award will be given for the best entry received and the winning poet crowned with laurel.

Such an Olympiad of the Arts was envisioned by Senator James D. Phelan and his literary associate, Dr. Henry Meade Bland, Poet-Laureate of California. Dr. Bland, who was the West Coast Regional Chairman of the Poetry Society of London, founded the Edwin Markham Chapter in 1925. Senator Phelan was Honorary Chairman. They sponsored a series of poetry contests at Montalvo that have continued uninterrupted to date. The California Olympiad of the Arts contests were inaugurated there in 1956, sponsored by the Edwin Markham Poetry Society with Gwendolen Brooks Penniman as Olympiad Chairman.

Contest Rules

1. Entries shall be marked for one of the following contests:

a. The Henry Meade Bland Poetry Award. Poems shall not be more than 42 lines.

b. The Florence Brooks Sonnet Award, for sonnets, either Petrarchian or Shakespearean.

Carmel's Jean Maria Fratessa Weds Timothy Mathew Crow

Jean Maria Fratessa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bertram Fratessa of Carmel, became the bride of Timothy Matthew Crow of Denver, Colorado, at impressive rites held Saturday, Oct. 19, at the Carmel Mission Basilica. The Reverend John Tierney of San Rafael read the four o'clock service. The couple also received a Papal blessing from Pope Paul VI. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums and stock in opium bowls decorated the altar of the historic mission.

The pretty bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Chantilly lace gown over silk with a cathedral train of tiered pleated tulle. An elbow length veil fell from a Dior bow, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

Carolyn Fratessa of San Francisco was maid of honor for her sister, and bridesmaids were Carolee Houser and Roberta Evans of Palo Alto, and Mrs. James Darrah of Stockton. They were dressed alike in full length willow green delustered satin gowns with which they wore matching shoes and veils and carried cascading bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. Michelle Scoville, niece of the bride, served as flower girl, wearing a floor length yellow organdy frock and carrying a nosegay of yellow rosebuds.

Paul Fratessa of Menlo Park acted as best man and seating the guests were Joseph Lasky of San Francisco, Donald Mooers, Oakland, Donald Crosby, Palo Alto, James Darrah, Stockton, and Jefferson Scoville, Newport Beach.

A reception was held at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club in Pebble Beach, where the rooms were decorated with arrangements of chrysanthemums in autumn shades and tall trees of ferns. White stock and chrysanthemums and silver candelabra were on the tables.

Mrs. Fratessa chose a beige delustered satin gown for her daughter's wedding, with which she wore a matching flower hat and accessories.

Mrs. Timothy Michael Crow, who with Mr. Crow traveled from their home in Denver for their son's nuptials, wore a peau de sole gown in cocoa shade.

The bride attended Santa Catalina School for Girls and Carmel High School, completing her education with an A.B. degree from Stanford and a Master's from Harvard Graduate School. Jeanne has two sisters, Mrs. Jefferson Scoville of Newport Beach, and Carolyn Fratessa of San Francisco, and a twin brother, Paul of Menlo Park. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs.

Paul Fratessa of San Francisco and the late Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Flanagan of Napa.

The new benedict was graduated from Regis High School in Denver and from Stanford where his fraternity was Theta Chi. Following his graduation in 1959, he served as a Lieutenant (j.g.) with the Naval Security Group Detachment at CINCPACFLT staff.

When the couple left Pebble Beach for a Las Vegas honeymoon, the bride was wearing a French wool plaid coat dress and a blue velvet hat. They will make their home in Oakland.

The key to clean highways is a trash bag in your car; carry one and use it.

Pamela Gamble, Miss California of 1962,
Contestant for Home-Coming Queen at San Francisco State

Pam Gamble Is Queen Candidate

Tall and pretty Pamela Jean Gamble, the "Miss California of 1962" and Carmel Valley resident, is now a contestant for the title of San Francisco State College campus Queen to reign over the 63rd Homecoming festivities to be held Nov. 9-16.

Miss Gamble, 20, a sophomore student at SFSC majoring in drama, is the daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Gamble. She was graduated at the Santa Catalina School for Girls in Monterey and has attended Monterey Peninsula College and the University of the Pacific.

Pamela is a slender five-foot-seven-inches with brown eyes and brown hair. Her candidacy is sponsored by the Air Force R.O.T.C. on the San Francisco State campus.

The victor of the Queen contest will be named Saturday by the judges, which include President Paul Dodd, executive head of the college. Selection is made at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, but her identity is not revealed until the Homecoming Coronation Ball Saturday, held in the College Commons.

The Queen then reigns over numerous campus events during the following week, climaxed on Saturday, Nov. 16, with a parade in the morning; a special alumni luncheon for the Class of 1913; a football game between S.F. State and the University of Nevada, with half-time stunts, and the Grand Ball to be held in the main ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel.

M. P. V. S. Donates $8,500 To F. S. A.

At the Nov. 1 general meeting of Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services, ending with brunch, held at the Monterey Country Club, a check for $8500.00 was presented by Mrs. Stanley Greb, treasurer of the MPVS Flea Market, to Dr. Carleton Whitehead, chairman of the Family Service Agency. This sum represented the net profits of the Flea Market which had taken place at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on October 9. Dr. Whitehead, in accepting, said the services of this agency were available to every member of the community but, due to the essential confidential nature of the activity, it was not well-known. Its value lay, among other things, in preventing the break-up of homes and thus of crime and juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. W. Lincoln Noelle, president of MPVS, introduced Mrs. Loraine Luker, Executive director of the Family Service Agency, to the membership. She also presented Mrs. Laurids Jorgensen, chairman of the MPVS Flea Market.

Mrs. Franklin Mead, hospitality chairman who arranged for the brunch, was introduced, and "Pat" Durr who contributed her oil painting as a door-prize, won by Mrs. K. Edwards.

Winners of twenty-one other contributed door prizes were: Elizabeth Whiting, Mrs. Blythe, Jane Landaker, C. W. Ale, Eva McKay, Fern Howard, Dythel Stevens, Sgt. Gwendalyn Gibson, Mrs. (Adm.) Bergin, Mrs. C. H. Brick, Mrs. C. C. Hardy, Alice Black, Glance Roberts, B. Hardisty, Lois Goss, Alice Cerrito, Mrs. Wilma Lazenby, Meron Blackley, Esther Williams, Edwin Bliss.

In response to a request from the Visiting Nurses Association, a gift of $450.00 was voted at the business meeting which preceded the brunch. A gift of $450.00 was also voted for the USO to be used for their holiday fund.

Gay confusion in "Shot in the Dark" at the Circle Theatre. The young magistrate (Robert Floeter, Jr., center) finds that a French parlor maid (played by Annette Sanchez) in her defense argument, has allure as well as logic, while Brian Jarman, as the suave Parisian, protests that a bit of amoral fun is merely fun, — in Paris.

CARMEL VALLEY MEMOIRS OF JOE HITCHCOCK

BY MARION CRUSH

The last early land grant about which I'll speak is Los Tularcitos. It began at the east boundary of Los Laureles — west of what is presently Rancho Carmelo. It extended easterly into the hills. It consisted of 6 leagues granted in 1834 to Rafael Gomez whose heirs were claimants for 26,581 acres patented in 1860. This tract covers the Buckeye Ridge, Burnt Mountain and has a short stretch of the upper part of the Carmel River.

This rancho was granted by Governor Figueroa to Rafael Gomez on Dec. 1, 1834 and in April 1852, his widow Josefa Antonia Gomez de Wolters and his children filed claim for the property.

Later, Mr. Andrew J. Ougletree acquired the ranch and raised cattle until he lost it in a mortgage to Alberto Trescony whose heirs still own a portion of the property. In 1896 or 1897, the Pacific Improvement company leased the ranch and ran some of their cattle from Los Laureles for about a year. It had been a dry year previously and there was a shortage of feed. I still remember bringing the cattle back to Los Laureles when we were kids. There were three of us, Elton Hebborn, my brother Ike, and myself. We were made to pair off with the older vaqueros to keep us out of mischief.

There are some ruins of an old adobe house at the Ranch. Apparently the ruins were the home of Rafael Gomez which he built himself. The house had two stories and was an outstanding residence in its time. As the property changed ownership, the home was used as a dairy house and the upper story was used by milkers as a bunk house.

Rancho Tularcitos is a wild, hilly, and rather desolate ranch compared to the tracts in the western end of the Valley. It has been kept more intact than any of the other ranches. Its present owners, the Marble family still hold about 20,000 acres. It is still used as a cattle ranch as the land is not suitable for farming. Mr. Marble also has a ranch in Nevada to which he ships his cattle part of each year.

So ends my history of the old Land Grants of Carmel Valley. For a while, I shall take up the story of my childhood and life on a ranch. One of my first impressions of dates is a date written in my father's handwriting—June 22, 1883. It was on the door of the house we first moved into when my father came to the Valley to stock the ranch with cattle for the Pacific Improvement Company under the supervision of William Hatton. His duties consisted of raising cattle, irrigating the alfalfa fields, and riding the range to keep the fences in repair. Mr. Hatton was a thorough cattleman and knowing how to choose the proper kind of men, he was easy to work for.

Cattle ranching was the main occupation in Carmel Valley for some years. When the first white pioneers came to the Valley, there were three who came from England. They had deserted their ships in the harbor to go to the mines. Eventually they settled in the Valley and turned to cattle raising. Among them were James Meadows, Bradley Sargent, and Tom Bralee. At first they did not till the soil because they thought the Valley soil was not fit to grow any crops. They would go over to Watsonville to buy their winter supply of beans and potatoes. In those days all their hauling was with heavy wagons and two yoke of oxen. It took a week each way to make this trip. Some years later, they found the Valley soil could grow better beans and potatoes as well as other crops and fruit. In later years the Valley became known for the Salinas Burbank potatoes. Mainly, however, the Valley has been a cattle and dairy center where Monterey Jack cheese was made after it was introduced to the San Francisco markets.

Republican Women's Annual Meeting Nov. 19

The Carmel Republican Women will hold their annual meeting at Leavells Restaurant in Carmel Valley (3 miles up the Valley) on Nov. 19 at noon.

Guest speaker will be Mr. Don Mulford who is chairman of the Caucus of the Legislature at Sacramento. His subject will be "Report from Sacramento" and he will enlighten us on the last session of the Legislature and the bills coming up in the next.

Past presidents, who will be hostesses, are Mrs. Mark Thomas, Mrs. E. H. Murray, Mrs. Mark Raggett, Mrs. Robert Stanton and Mrs. Carl Hisinger. Mrs. Lucille Ray will play the accordion.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. E. H. Murray, Mrs. John Reynolds or Mrs. Roddy Holt, and should be made by Nov. 17.

Those wishing transportation may call Mrs. Thomas Perry.

San Francisco business and industry annually creates $2 billion in personal income for its residents and $1 billion for commuters.

CARMEL: TOWN AND COUNTRY

FEEL LIKE AN elegant country squire in a bosky and "rural" setting right in the heart of Carmel in the prestige area preferred by prominent "locals" such as senators, bankers, doctors and lawyers. Approached by a winding driveway through fabulous oaks and velvety lawns, the rambling house presents a hospitable aspect charmingly borne out by its eloquently informal interiors. Lovely bedrooms, beautiful baths, and a kitchen unexcelled for sheer beauty combined with every luxury of planning and organization, as well as superb equipment. And the sunny circular breakfast nook! And the simple dignity of the formal dining room and its intriguing bar! To say nothing of the guest house, handsomely paneled and appointed. The air of seclusion, and the peace and quiet, make it hard to believe you're right in town. Helen Ireland would love to show you our "Estate of the Week" — this week, or any week! Courtesy to brokers, of course.

Time Saving Ruling For Carmel Voters

Breaking a long standing precedent, the entire staff of the Carmel City Clerk's Office can now participate in registering voters, thereby saving the citizens much time.

The next city election will be in April.

Rumors of Sound and Fury in Big Sur

A rumor, just a rumor, that that gal, Elizabeth will invade the Big Sur, is, to put it mildly, causing tremors in the heart of one blissfully devoted wife. She hasn't really reached the frantic stage yet, it is just a feeling of foreboding.

Handsome Glen Currens of Burde, Shaw & Associates, is designing and building a set and sound stage for Columbia's forthcoming picture "The Sand Piper." The locale is the Dani Ranch in Sycamore Canyon, — remote. The star Columbia is angling for, Elizabeth Taylor and the director, Martin Ransohoff.

Of course no builder of a sound stage, a beautiful set, would dream of not being around to see how the star reacts.

Mrs. Currens is, so Glen gloomily admits, "just a bit stodgy about the whole thing."

● World traveler Pat Elston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Elston, Jr., is currently in Japan, none the worse for her journey by freighter. A political science major in political science at Holyoke College, Pat hopes for a job in the foreign service, in the Orient, someday. But first she is planning to complete her trip 'round the world, eventually crossing the Atlantic on a French freighter, "Much much more interesting than a stuffy luxury liner," says Pat.

Suggett, Mrs. David Wisnom and Miss Virginia von Hasseln.

Proceeds from the Fashion Show and luncheon will go to the Symphony Orchestra and its educational program.

Pickets in Carmel; Legality Studied

The John Roscelli Corporation, serving this city as the Carmel Garbage Service, has been picketed for the past several days by pickets carrying signs which read "This work is NOT performed under contract with Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union Local 690."

George Roscelli, speaking for the company, said to the PINE CONE this week that he has not been told either by the union or by his men what they want. He said that upon advice of counsel he declined to sign a paper proffered by the union which would authorize a union vote.

The matter of the legality of signs being carried by the pickets is now being studied by the city attorney, to determine whether the pickets are required to obtain approval of the signs by the design review committee of the Carmel Planning Commission.

It has been pointed out the city of Carmel-by-the-Sea, in Initiative Ordinance Number One, has a right to work law. The law reads, in part, "Any strike or picketing within said City to force or induce any employer to make an agreement in writing or orally in violation of this ordinance shall be for an illegal purpose."

A Christmas Gift Is Dollars In The Bank

A $32,190.80 pre-Christmas present from Carmel area residents to themselves will help spur what may be the greatest Yuletide shopping spree in the city's history, it was reported today by August H. Johnson, manager of Bank of America's Carmel branch.

That's the amount Bank of America will distribute from Christmas Club savings accounts to local residents in time for the holiday shopping season. Christmas Club checks will be mailed beginning on Nov. 15, 1963.

$550,000 for Sunset

The council also heard the first reading of the spike heel ordinance. In discussion it was pointed out that shoes with heels over two inches in height and less than one square inch of bearing surface are more suited to cities which do not have the semi-rural character of Carmel, such as San Francisco and New York. City Clerk Hugh Bayless added that insurance rates for slip-and-fall accidents have gone up $8,000 in the last year. Dorothy Chapman, in the audience, protested that the proposed ordinance would make it safe for only men to fall. Mayor Eben Whittlesey responded that the ordinance does not make reference to women.

The lands and improvements committee brought in a report to the effect that it was possible that for an expenditure in the vicinity of $60,000 the police, street and building inspector's departments could all have more adequate facilities. Further examination was requested with respect to the possibility of partly financing the shifts with half of the $73,645.88 which has been collected by the city's new hostelry tax.

Councilman Robert Spencer asked if the city sign ordinance covered those carried by pickets. The city attorney's reply, upon a brief examination of the ordinance, was that the signs referred to were illegal, but the mayor said he felt further research was indicated. The city attorney was requested to make such a study and report directly to the police commissioner, in view of the emergency nature of the matter. It was pointed out that the owners of the signs might be requested to make application for approval by the design review committee of the city planning commission.
